COURSE DESCRIPTION

There is an increasing need for primary care physicians to have more understanding of pain management and to be able to work in collaboration with pain management specialists and better understand how, when, and why to refer their patients for specialized pain care. This course will provide an update on critical issues in the management of chronic pain to address the national and international movement toward improved pain control in chronic non-cancer and cancer pain.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, participants should be able to:

• Be competent in the evaluation of patients with chronic pain
• Be able to recommend appropriate interventional and non-interventional therapies
• Have a working knowledge of the appropriate and safe use of prescription opioids

Attendance at this Mayo course does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught in this course.

INTENDED AUDIENCE

The target audience will be predominantly primary care providers who are non-pain specialists. The target audience will also include allied health professionals including advanced practice nurses, physician assistants, and doctoral level and masters level mental health providers.
