COURSE DESCRIPTION

This is the ninth triennial conference on cancer in American Indians and Alaska Natives. The NCI Community Networks Program: “Spirit of EAGLES” has its research base within the Mayo Clinic’s Comprehensive Cancer Program with Dr. Judith Kaur as the PI. As with the past eighth conferences, Mayo faculty and nationally prominent researchers in American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) health give reviews of new developments in prevention, screening, and treatment strategies. Registration has increased each time we have held this conference and attracts clinicians, researchers, students, policymakers, and patient advocates.

ABSTRACT SESSIONS

We are very excited about this year’s educational program. We will be having a scientific abstract symposium during the meeting to highlight recent scientific advances in cancer. We would like to invite you and your colleagues to submit original research for consideration and presentation in these scientific sessions. Please see the “Call for Abstracts” section of this brochure. Deadline for the first submission will be Friday, May 17, 2013. Deadline for final submission is August 15, 2013.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon conclusion of this program, participants should be able to:

- Identify the current standards for screening for breast, colon, cervical, and prostate cancer and any modifications that may be recommended in AI/AN communities.
- Recognize the unique needs of AIAN survivors.
- Identify the essential elements for provision of palliative care with multidisciplinary team approach.

Attendance at this Mayo course does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught in this course.

INTENDED AUDIENCE

The intended audience for this conference includes community members and leaders, survivors/thrivers, advocates, researchers, health care providers, policy makers, and others working with Native populations.

CREDIT

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint sponsorship of College of Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Network for Cancer Control Research Among American Indian and Alaska Native Populations (“NETWORK”). College of Medicine, Mayo Clinic, is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

College of Medicine, Mayo Clinic, designates this live activity for a maximum of 17.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Nursing

This conference is offered in cooperation with Mayo Continuing Nursing Education. Mayo Continuing Nursing Education is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation. Participants can earn up to 17.75 nursing contact hours (accredited).
General Information

Other Health Care Professionals
A certificate of attendance will be provided to other health care professionals for requesting credits in accordance with state nursing boards, specialty societies, or other professional associations.

Grants and Exhibits
At the time of this printing, a complete listing of commercial supporters (financial or in-kind) was not available. Appropriate acknowledgment will be given to all supporters at the time of the meeting.

Exhibits will be available for viewing at all scheduled breaks.

Date and Location
The Changing Patterns of Cancer in Native Communities: Strength Through Tradition and Science will be held October 26-28, 2013. Course headquarters will be located at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, 330 Tijeras NW, Albuquerque, New Mexico. Phone: 1-888-421-1442 Website: http://www.albuquerque.hyatt.com

Registration
To register online, visit http://www.mayo.edu/cme/hematology-and-oncology-2013r103, or complete the attached registration form and return by mail or fax. The registration fee includes tuition, course syllabus, continental breakfasts, break refreshments, lunches, and awards banquet. Syllabus – Please see registration panel for syllabus options. Although it is not Mayo School of Continuous Professional Development (CPD) policy to limit the number of registrants for a course, conference room facilities may necessitate closing of enrollment; therefore, early registration is advised. A letter of confirmation will be sent upon receipt of payment and completed registration form.

Disclosure of this information will be published in course materials so those participants in the activity may formulate their own judgments regarding the presentation.
Our ninth national Changing Cancer Patterns in Native Communities conference will be held October 26-28, 2013. This year’s theme is Strength through Tradition and Science. Our purpose is (1) to provide a forum for community leaders and members, students, researchers, clinicians, service providers, and others to address critical cancer issues among Native people; (2) to present updates on comprehensive cancer control plans in Native communities; (3) to review advances in American Indian/Alaska Native (AIAN) cancer research to determine future research priorities and explore the science of translational research; (4) to highlight effective cancer control activities and programs in AIAN communities; (5) to highlight the strengths of AIAN traditions in promoting comprehensive cancer prevention and control, and (5) to publish selected papers presented at the conference so that this information can reach a wider audience. Some of the topics to be included at the conference will include cancer prevention, cancer screening, cultural sensitivity, tobacco issues, policy, structures and systems, comprehensive cancer control programs, palliative care and end-of-life issues, quality of life and survivorship issues, cancer treatment, community partnerships, traditional healing and western medicine, spirituality in cancer, physical activity, diet and nutrition, cancer education, movies and other media.

We are very excited about this year’s educational program. We will be having a scientific abstract symposium during the meeting to highlight recent scientific advances in cancer. We would like to invite you and your colleagues to submit original research for consideration and presentation in these scientific sessions. Please see the “Call for Abstracts” section of this brochure.

Deadline for first call for abstract submission will be Friday, May 17, 2013. Deadline for final submission is August 16, 2013.

Abstract Suggestions

1. Identify cancer patterns in Native men (body, mind, emotion, spirit).
2. Describe program components that contribute to successful Native men’s cancer programs.
3. Review the epidemiology of specific cancers in American Indian/Alaska Natives (AIANs) including regional variation and time trends.
4. Identify risk factors possibly implicated in AIAN health disparities including screening participation.
5. Describe strategies to address AIAN cancer disparities.
6. Reduce cancer mortality among AIANs through cancer navigation programs.
7. Identify treatment options for smokeless tobacco use.
9. Identify potential resources to assist with palliative and end-of-life care within AIAN communities.
10. Describe the role of palliative care in cancer care.
11. Describe AIAN cancer survivors’ physical, mental-emotional, and spiritual outcomes.
12. Discuss strategies to manage cancer treatment side effects.
14. Describe the elements of cancer behaviors.
15. Describe the benefits of strong partnerships between states and tribes for Comprehensive Cancer Control.
16. Identify at least five local or regional organizations that can help and support AIANs with cancer.
17. Describe how national or regional cancer data may be used to help a local AIAN program.
18. Identify needs and gaps specific to potential local AIAN cancer programs.
19. Describe ways traditional American Indian medicine contributes to cancer healing and recovery.
20. Identify innovative cancer partnerships that resulted in successful community-based participatory AIAN programs.
21. Identify ways Indigenous knowledge was integrated with modern western medicine.
22. Evaluate the cultural competency of AIAN cancer programs.
