AMA PRA CATEGORY 1 / MOC POINTS
DANA POINT, CALIFORNIA
THE RITZ-CARLTON, LAGUNA NIGUEL

COURSE OVERVIEW

The program will provide an update on the indications, follow up, and management of cardiac rhythm technology, emphasizing clinical pearls. Evolving device technology has increased programming complexity, follow-up, and management. Cardiac implantable device management related to electrophysiology remains a major part of daily practice for cardiologists, electrophysiologists, and non-physician caregivers involved in the management of these devices. Join us at this beautiful destination to review practice dilemmas and key management strategies.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this course, participants should be able to better:

• Describe the current indications for pacemaker, ICD, subcutaneous ICD, and resynchronization therapies
• Recognize upcoming technologies, such as leadless and epicardial devices
• Interpret diagnostic material (electrocardiograms, impedance, radiography, and other sources) to troubleshoot suspected implantable device malfunction
• Discuss CIED related common issues, such as management of device patients having MRI, radiation, infection, and extract implantable devices
• Identify the current capabilities and roles of remote monitoring to manage patients with cardiovascular risk and disease
• Recognize precise cardiac anatomy to facilitate lead placement

INTENDED AUDIENCE

The symposium is designed for cardiologists, internists, family practitioners, physician assistants, and cardiovascular nurse practitioners and technologists caring for patients with cardiac rhythm management.
