COURSE HIGHLIGHTS

Mayo Clinic’s Transoral Laser Microsurgery for Head and Neck Cancer is designed to give Otolaryngologists, Head and Neck Surgeons, and Head and Neck Oncologists a focused educational experience in transoral endoscopic techniques to resect primary head and neck tumors. Transoral laser microsurgery will be the primary focus with additional education in other transoral techniques including robotics. Topics include:

- Indications, techniques and outcomes
- Principles of tumor exposure
- Benefits of various laser wavelengths
- Instrumentation including fiber technology and robotics
- Appropriate patient selection
- Postoperative management
- Role of transoral surgery in the multidisciplinary treatment model of care

On Saturday, April 17, 2010, an optional hands-on workshop will provide participants with opportunities to perform various transoral procedures with laser technologies and delivery systems on both animal and human cadaveric models. For additional workshop information, see page 6. Enrollment in the workshop is limited. Pre-registration and additional fee required.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon conclusion of this program, participants should be able to:

COURSE:
- Identify which patients are eligible for transoral laser surgery.
- Distinguish the differences between transoral laser microsurgery and traditional treatment strategies, both surgical and radiation-based.
- Describe advantages of transoral laser microsurgery.
- Relate potential advantages that may be realized with transoral robotic surgery.
- Identify basic transoral laser microsurgery instrumentation and operative complications.
- Discuss postoperative management of patients treated with transoral laser microsurgery.
- Identify key features of “inside-out” anatomy of the upper aerodigestive tract.

WORKSHOP:
- Practice instrumentation in large animal and cadaveric models the use of micromanipulator and laser fiber delivery systems.
- Demonstrate hemostasis techniques during transoral laser microsurgery.

DISCLAIMER

Attendance at this Mayo course does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught in this course.

CREDIT
